A photograph of a rolled-up scroll, likely made of paper or parchment, resting on a dark surface. A ruler is placed vertically along the left edge of the scroll for scale. The ruler has markings in centimeters and inches. The scroll is secured with several horizontal strips of light-colored tape. A small, rectangular, reddish-brown object is visible on the left side, partially overlapping the scroll. The scroll itself appears to have some faint, illegible markings or text on its surface.
